1987-1988 DIRECTORY OF MANUFACTURING FIRMS

NORTH CAROLINA

A MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

North Carolina's manufacturing industries are the backbone of our thriving economy. More new and expanding industries have announced plans to locate in North Carolina in recent years than in any other state in the country. Top corporate officials rank North Carolina as one of the nation's best locations for new plant sites.

Our hard-working people are the main reason North Carolina is the best place to locate a business. As the tenth most populous state, we are proud that no other state employs a larger percentage of its total work force in manufacturing.

Our manufacturing work force is unique in both size and productivity. North Carolina has the largest manufacturing work force in the Southeast -- more than 830,000 people -- and North Carolina workers produce 20¢ more per production wage dollar than the U.S. average.

There are other significant reasons why North Carolina is the number one choice of manufacturing industries across the nation:

- Free, customized skill training for new and expanding industries.
- Low per capita state and local tax rates.
- Low energy and construction rates.
- A central geographic location and close proximity to major markets.
- A comprehensive transportation network.
- An exceptional business climate and unsurpassed quality of life.

Most important, North Carolina's economy has a solid manufacturing base. The more than 6,600 industries listed in this directory, and the goods and services they provide, are key factors in our state's unprecedented growth and continued prosperity.

On behalf of North Carolina's 6.2 million citizens, I extend a hearty thanks to these manufacturing firms that keep our economy strong. To manufacturing firms outside our state, I extend a warm invitation to visit North Carolina and see why this is the greatest place in the nation to do business.

Jim Martin

James G. Martin

The 1987-1988 Directory of Manufacturing Firms in North Carolina is published by the Department of Commerce as a service to the state's industrial establishments. It includes specific information on more than 6,600 industries throughout the state. The information is detailed in six comprehensive sections for easy reference.

- The Alpha Guide
  Arranged alphabetically, this guide indexes all firms listed in the directory with the page reference for listing in the Geographic Guide.

- The Geographic Guide
  Arranged by county, this section lists each firm's complete address; company headquarters and parent company; year established; employment range; names and titles of management personnel; import/export capabilities; and SIC (Standard Industrial Classification) product codes.

- The Company/Parent Company Index
  Arranged by company, this section provides a quick reference to parent company association.

- The Product Guide
  Arranged by four-digit SIC sequence, this section lists each firm's address; employment range; and product description.

- The Purchase Guide
  Arranged by two-digit SIC sequence, this section lists each firm's address; employment range; and purchase description.

- The Export/Import Guides
  Arranged by two-digit SIC sequence, these guides list each firm's address; employment range; and products exported/imported (respectively).

The North Carolina Department of Commerce acknowledges with appreciation the cooperative efforts of North Carolina's manufacturers in submitting information for this directory. Information in the directory is obtained by surveying companies across the state. Considerable effort has been made to compile and verify a comprehensive list of North Carolina manufacturers. However, omissions and errors may occur inadvertently.

All manufacturers in North Carolina are entitled to a FREE listing in the directory. Manufacturers not currently listed may participate in the next edition by completing the form printed on the last page of this book.
